FORD RETRACTS ALL ATTACKS ON JEWS

COMPLETE APOLOGY MADE CEASES HIS ANTI-SEMITISM

Owner of the Dearborn Independent Declares He Desires To Retract Charges of Plot To Corner Money—News to Millions—Statements Are Regretted—Virtues Cited, Issue Is Settled.

The New York American in a copy righted article Thursday says Henry Ford has ordered the Dearborn Independent to discontinue permanently all articles "hostile to the Jewish people," has withdrawn from publication the pamphlet in which such items were being distributed, and in a signed statement has expressed deep regret for any injury or hurt caused by the series.

Ford's statement, according to The American, includes the announcement that "hence the Dearborn Independent will be conducted under such auspices that articles reflecting upon the Jews will never again appear in its columns."

"Let me add," this version of the statement concludes, "that this statement is made upon my own initiative and wholly in the interest of right and justice and in accordance with what I regard as my solemn duty as a man and as a citizen."

The Detroit manufacturer was quoted as being deeply mortified that "this journal has been made the medium for resurrecting exploded fictions, for giving currency to the so-called protocols of the wise men of Zion, which have been demonstrated, as I learn, to be gross forgeries, and for contending that the Jews have been engaged in a conspiracy to control the industries and capital of the world."

"Had I appreciated even the general nature, to say nothing of the details, of these articles," Mr. Ford is quoted as declaring, "I would have forbidden their circulation without a moment's hesitation, because I am fully aware of the virtues of the Jewish people as a whole, of what they and their ancestors have done for civilization and for mankind, their benevolence and their unselfish interest in the public welfare."

Disclosing that William Randolph Hearst, publisher of The American, had offered $1,000,000 for the Dearborn Independent, the article quotes Ford as saying:

"No, I won't sell it, but I'm going to make it a house organ, and I am going to stop absolutely everything that could possibly cause complaint or hurt the feelings of anybody."

The signed statement of Ford says in part:

"In the multitude of my activities it has been impossible for me to devote personal attention to their management or to keep informed as to their contents."

"It has, therefore, inevitably followed that the conduct and policies of these publications had to be delegated to men whom I placed in charge of them and upon whom I relied implicitly."

"To my great regret," the statement continues, "I have learned that Jews generally, and particularly those of this country, not only resent these publications as promoting anti-Semitism, but regard me as their enemy."

"Trusted friends with whom I have conferred recently have assured me in all sincerity that in their opinion the character of the charges and insinuation made against the Jews, both individually and collectively, contained in many of the articles which have been circulated periodically in the Dearborn Independent and have been reprinted in the pamphlets mentioned, justifies the righteous indignation entertained by Jews everywhere toward me, because of the mental anguish occasioned by the unprovoked reflections made upon them.

"This had led me to direct my personal attention to this subject, in order to ascertain in the exact nature of these articles."

"As a result of this survey I confess that I am deeply mortified that this journal, which is intended to be constructive and not destructive, has been made the medium for resurrecting exploded fictions, for giving currency to the so-called protocols of the Wise Men of Zion, which have been demonstrated, as I learn, to be gross forgeries, and for contending that the Jews have been engaged in a conspiracy to control the capital and the industries of the world, besides laying at their door many offenses against decency, public order and good morals."

"Had I appreciated these utterances I would have forbidden their circulation without a moment's hesitation, because I am fully aware of the virtues of the Jewish people as a whole of what they and their ancestors have done for civilization and for mankind toward the development of commerce and industry, of their sobriety and diligence, their benevolence and their unselfish interest in the public welfare."

William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent and a witness in the Ford-Sapiro $1,000,000 libel suit here this year, expressed great surprise at the announcement from New York that the Ford newspaper would "discontinue permanently all articles hostile to the Jewish people."

"This is absolutely the first time I have heard of any such statement of intention on the part of Henry Ford," he said. "I most certainly will get in touch with Mr. Ford and find out what is back of this."

MOTOR SURVEY SHOWS GROSS CARELESSNESS

Any Person Who Takes a
Chance When in Control of
Auto Invites Death.

How many things drivers of motor vehicles can do that invite accidents is shown in a survey made in Baltimore by the safety council of that city. An inquiry was made into 3100 cases in the first three months of this year involving 5166 drivers. The first impressive fact revealed is that only 1035 of the individuals at the wheels of cars could be said to be without any responsibility for the mishaps. This means that four out of every five drivers that participated in accidents were less attentive to their task that they could have been. We are faced with the obvious and frequently reiterated conclusion that an awakened sense of individual responsibility is imperative to reduce the enormous annual blood toll in automobile traffic.

In the cases examined 1013 drivers failed to give the right-of-way. Three hundred and eighty-six were driving too fast under the conditions; 318 were plainly reckless, 243 inattentive, 172 lost control of their vehicles, 165 cut in too close to other machines and 109 followed other machines too closely. With congestion what it is in streets and highways this report is a stinging indictment of motoring habits. Vigilance and prudence are not to be ignored when driving an automobile. Their neglect often is the forerunner of tragedy. The statistics gathered by the Baltimore agency emphasized the extensive irresponsibility on the part of drivers of trucks and other commercial vehicles in which they had no ownership.

The cause of accidents enumerated in the survey are not different from those to be found in cases everywhere. There is no getting away from the truth that there are comparatively few mishaps that could not be prevented. Any person who takes a chance when in control of a movable engine is risking death or injury to somebody and the wreck of property. Unremitting attention to the business of driving, while not a guaranty against all mishaps, would accomplish an amazing reduction in the number now reported.—Indianapolis News.

OLDEST VINTAGE
London Man Obtains Six Bottles of Wine Which Were Made
In 16th Century.

London, July 6.—In the cellar of a well-known wet goods specialist on Albermarle street, there is a small quantity of wine which is said to be of an older vintage than any wine to be found anywhere in the world. There are at present only six bottles which are the last of a large lot acquired some time ago by the merchant. These are Bavarian wines: Steinwein, 1540; Leisten, 1631; and two hocks, Rudesheimer and Deidesheimer, of equally remote date. The mad Bavarian King Ludwig possessed these wines with 100,000 other bottles of similar antiques. One day in the early eighties he came to the conclusion that the old wine was not good and decided to sell the lot.

COURT UPHOLDS

Man Arrested On Porch With Revolver Is Acquitted of Concealed Weapon Charge.

Probably the most ironic dissenting opinion that ever originated in Ohio supreme court was trundled out of the One Hundred and First Ohio State Reports dusted off and presented to Municipal Judge Miller Wednesday to lend weight to an argument that a man has a right to sit on his front porch with a revolver concealed in his shirt, if that is his idea of contentment.

This opinion, together with the contention of Judge Miller that a man's house still is his castle, won the battle for Will Gerrell, 938 Dupont street, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

The weapon in evidence was a so-called "hogleg" revolver, so large it looked as though a gun carriage might be required to carry it about, but Will had managed to hide it beneath his shirt when arrested recently while entertaining friends on the porch of his home.

His counsel, E. J. Greely, contended that his client was within his constitutional rights. He cited where the late Judge K. M. Wanamaker, differing with his supreme court colleagues in a revolver case, had stated that if it is a crime for residents to have weapons in their homes, then a large percentage of the people of the state are criminals.

"The only safe course for them to pursue," according to the Wanamaker opinion, "instead of having the weapon concealed on or about their person, or under their pillow at night, is to hang the revolver on the wall and put below it a large placard with these words inscribed:

"The Ohio supreme court having decided that it is a crime to carry a concealed weapon on one's person in one's home, even in one's bed or bunk, this weapon is hung upon the wall that you may see it, and before you commit any burglary or assault, please, Mr. Burglar, hand me my gun."

Upon conclusion of the reading of the citation, Judge Miller said: "I still hold that a man's house is his castle, also. Therefore this case is continued generally."

Gerrell, however, who had been convicted of illegal possession of whisky found on his premises at the time police made discovery of the weapon in his shirt, was fined $100 and costs on that charge.—O. S. Journal.

SAFETY FIRST.

In the annual report of H. G. Stevenson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, one of the matters mentioned is the five traffic lights on Main and Court streets, bought at considerable cost and paid for by public donations.

This investment is one of the finest ever made by the people of Circleville; for, so far as we know, there has not been a single accident at any of these street crossings while the lights were in operation.

In these days of rapid transit and with all streets and roads filled with speeding automobiles, every precaution should be taken to preserve the lives and property of all. While the traffic lights are conceded to be splendid, it must be remembered that without obedience, they are without any value and the money spent in their purchase and installation is worse than wasted.

Autoists, generally, obey the signals, but a little observation will disclose the fact that they are disregarded by some drivers. And, while, it is true that most drivers of machines obey the traffic signals, not so much can be said for the pedestrians, as violation on the part of the walkers is the rule rather than the exception. These lights change every thirty seconds, and, it occurs to us that a man or woman, whether walking or driving, must be in a very great hurry if he can not wait the half of one minute.

In our judgment there should be universal compliance with the signals or the lights should be taken down and the investment charged up to profit and loss.

Again, it is no uncommon occurrence to see an automobile going about our streets, after dark, with no lights burning and occasionally a car may be seen with only one or no license plate.

As we have said, every care should be exercised to insure the safety of life and property; yet on any Saturday night when the streets on both sides are lined with automobiles, some may be found in the center of the city, parked at alley intersections, barring ingress or egress.

This is in plain violation of law, and it does not take a prophet to foresee what would happen if fire should break out in some of the frame structures in these alleys. The fire department would be delayed, perhaps, until such headway had been made by the flames that a goodly part of the city might be destroyed.

If we are to have a condition that makes it impossible for the fire department to reach the scene of the blaze, would it not be the part of wisdom to abolish the fire department and save taxpayers the useless expense of its maintenance.

We would like to ask if any of the people of Circleville or the surrounding country would drive or walk against the lights, drive after dark without lights, drive without two license plates or park their machines in an alley entrance in Columbus?

The Nearest Duty

Our thoughts, good and bad, are not in our command, but every one of us has at all hours duty to do, and these he can only do negligently like a slave or faithfully like a true servant. "Do the duty that is nearest thee"—that first, and that well; all the rest will disclose themselves with increasing clearness and make their successive demand.

WISHES.

The Associated Press recently carried a dispatch telling of an elderly farmer who wished that an apple tree on a hill was down in the barn lot, as it was becoming difficult for him to climb so high.

Lo! no sooner had he wished than the tree slid down the hill, bringing a huge pile of earth with it, and soon was bearing fruit in its new location.

Most of men's wishes, however, are not so speedily realized. A wish for the average man, is but the beginning of work. Wishing, if it means anything, is an electric button, to be pressed once.

The rest must be done elsewhere. A wish is the self-starter in the wheel of attainment. Without wishes mankind would still be in the purely animal state. Animals do not wish for food, they crave it, which is a different thing.

Man, with a mentality made for wishing, wishes himself into success or failure. Men do not always stop to realize that evil as well as good comes from wishing.

Even wishes which intend harm to others are aimed, in a queer distorted fashion, to bring what the wisher terms "good" to himself. There is nothing more sure, however, than that these evil wishes bring a circle of evil results, which takes in wishes as well as victim.

If our wishes are good as was the old Ohio farmer's, perhaps we may yet see the tree slide down into outstretched arms, and pick the apples of realization at our ease. — Washington Star.

DISARMAMENT AGREEMENT IN THE BALANCE

The fate of President Coolidge's three-power naval armaments conference seemed likely to be decided Friday at Geneva.

The showdown was expected at an executive meeting of the chief delegates of the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Apparently it was up to the British delegation to say whether the conference, after 17 days of virtually fruitless discussions, shall end in success or failure.

The situation when the executive session was called was:

Great Britain demanded a maximum cruiser tonnage of not less than 580,000; the United States favored 300,000 but was willing, if necessary, to go as high as 400,000; Japan favored a maximum of 250,000 and would not go beyond 300,000.

One or more of those figures will have to be changed at the executive session if the conference is to continue, because the United States stood midway between the high of Britain and the low of Japan it was believed the committee, if it agrees at all, will agree on a figure approximating that suggested by the United States.

Food From the Clouds

Airplanes that fly above the Alps now supply astronomers at the Mont Blanco observatory with food. This they accomplish by dropping parachutes loaded with provisions, which are picked up as soon as they reach the earth. Food that was formerly hauled up the steep slopes of the mountains to isolated tourist huts in the Alps is also being distributed in this way.

Nests on the Ground

The meadow lark's nest is a scooped-out hollow in the meadows, says Nature Magazine. It is formed of dead grasses, arched over with a sort of roof. The four or five white eggs are lightly dotted with reddish brown and gray.

LICKING COW
HEAD OF LIST
IN BUTTERFAT

Holstein Production is 125
Pounds in May and Wins
the First Place.

By producing the equivalent of about 125 pounds of butter in the month of May, a registered Holstein cow owned by Daweswood farm of Licking county won the honor of heading the list of the 6528 cows on test in Ohio's corn testing associations during May. Her exact butterfat production was 106.5 pounds for May.

First honors in milk production for May went to a registered Holstein owned by Firestone farm of Columbiana county. This cow produced 3044 pounds of milk (about 1500 quarts) during May. Second on this list was a grade Holstein owned by Carl Crane of the Warren-Greene County Cow Testing association. This Holstein yielded 2663 pounds of milk.

The Daweswood farm cow, first in butterfat production, came third in milk production with an output of 2536 pounds.

Second place in butterfat production was won by a registered Holstein of the herd of William Hahn, Wayne county, producing 104.2 pounds of fat. Third place, 103.3 pounds of butterfat, went to the Firestone farm cow, which was first in milk production for May.

The 24 cow testing associations which reported to the agricultural college extension service at the Ohio State university for May, had 6528 cows in milk during the month. Better than a fourth—1897 cows—of the total number of cows in milk produced 40 pounds of butterfat or more during May, and 887 produced more than 1200 pounds of milk.

Undersea Relief Maps
of Pacific Made by Navy

Washington.—An achievement of the navy during the cruise of the battle fleet from San Francisco to Australia two years ago has just come to light with publication of undersea relief maps of the route the ships followed on that historic voyage of more than 7,000 miles.

Graphic representations of soundings taken at the time by the battleship Maryland, the light cruiser Milwaukee, and the destroyer Hull are shown. They are expected to be of incalculable value to navigation in the Pacific as well as to the advancement of the science of oceanography.

Equipped with sonic electric depth-sounding devices, it was an easy matter for the ships to chart the bed of the waters as they passed over. They accurately mapped the deepest ravines. Sheer pinnacles rising 24,000 feet in some instances were located. Along other stretches of the route the maps disclose queer outlines of the Pacific's bed, suggestive of an impressionistic picture of the skyline of a great city.

In the opinion of some navy hydrographers, the bottom of the oceans and other bodies of waters may be charted, though they be concealed miles below the surface even before man concludes his age-old task of mapping the exposed portions of the world. And this, they say, is possible without ever dropping a lead line from a ship.

WAISTLINE IS WAVERING FAR FROM NORMAL

Specialist in Talk on Fashions Admits That It May Never Decide to Settle.

Where, Oh where, will the waistline settle?

That question, bobbing up every year in discussions of feminine fashions, still is as far from settlement as ever, it seems to Edna M. Callahan, home economics extension specialist at the Ohio State university.

The refusing to predict just where the waistline will settle, if it ever does, Miss Callahan offers two reasons why the fashionable waistline probably will be slow to coincide with the normal anatomical waistline.

In the first place, says the home economics specialist, the normal waistline is not very flattering to the hips that have lost their slimness. In the second place, the normal waistline is rarely youthful looking as the longer waistline.

"For the past two or three seasons," Miss Callahan continues, "we have been hearing that the normal waistline has returned. The fact remains that few of us are wearing normal waistlines, because few of us like them.

"The tendency in waistlines is upward. This tendency is so gradual, however, that one hardly realizes it.

"Elaborate and ingenious subterfuges are used to accustom our eyes to the higher waistlines. There are frocks with three belts, the top one at a normal waistline; frocks with boleros ending at a normal waistline; frocks with a fitted look above the belts, and frocks with trimmings, which call attention to the body waistline."

CLOSES WITH

The program for the closing entertainment of the Daily Vacation Bible school tonight will in part be a demonstration of the program of work done day by day. There will be two dramatizations of Bible stories. The Primary group will stage Moses and the Junior group Joseph. Miss Deitzel leaves Saturday for her home in Tiffin. She is much pleased with the cooperation given her and the fine work of her assistants in the school. Many are hoping that next year two schools can be held in place of one in order that a larger number of children may be reached. The exhibition of handwork will open at 6:30; the program at 8 o'clock at the high school auditorium.

Railroad Grades

Any railroad grade of 2 per cent or over is uneconomical. Grade revision has progressed in this country until there are few grades of 2 per cent or over. Tattersall's is the name of an old and well-known horse market situated at Knightsbridge Green, London. AMUSEMENTS

Spain—the Spain of today—add Slander—the great enemy of the day—are the locale and motivating menace of the most sensational drama the screen has seen in months, "Lovers," now showing at the Met theater.

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature is a gripping romance of love, and the peril of scandal, filmed on a lavish scale as a starring vehicle for Ramon Navarro, with Alice Terry and a splendid cast.

It is a play unique in that it has no conventional villain. His place is taken by the invisible tongues of scandal, which blight lives, wreck souls and cast the central characters into a maelstrom of poisonous lies in the gripping tale.

The denouement is one of the most remarkable bits of dramatic audacity and playwright's originality in years.

Modern Spain is the locale of the story—a Spain as modern as the United States is today. Navarro is seen as a young playwright, thrown into a sensational scandal with the wife of his best friend—altho both are absolutely innocent. This situation is developed with rare dramatic intensity from one climax to another.

The cast, under the direction of John M. Stahl, is one of special interest. Navarro, hero of "Ben-Hur," is a different man entirely as the young Spaniard of the present day; Miss Terry, heroine of "Mare Nosttrum" and "The Magician," charming as the young wife torn between love of her husband and terror of the scandal menacing her happiness.

Sloth's Peculiarities

The sloth is a tree-dwelling animal, native to South America. It seldom comes to the ground, but lives entirely on the vegetation afforded by the trees. Its legs and claws are long and it hangs on the branches in a suspended posture, its body being underneath.

1927 TAX DUPLICATE

Is $13,330,000,000—Four Counties Possess 41 Per Cent of Total — Increase Over 1926 5 Per Cent.

The tax duplicate of Ohio for 1927 is $13,330,000,000, of $650,000,000 more than the total for 1926, records of the state tax commission show. The increase is slightly over 5 per cent.

Fifty-six per cent of the total tax wealth of the state is located in eight counties containing the eight largest cities, while 41 per cent is in the four largest.

Cuyahoga County with an area of 463 square miles, has a tax duplicate of $2,900,000,000, which is 21.7 per cent of the total for the state, and is the largest for any county.

Vinton County, with an area of 412 square miles, has a tax duplicate of $13,613,000, and is the smallest in the state.

The greatest increase over last year is in Stark County, where the total value was boosted $122,000,000, while the greatest decrease over last year was Cuyahoga County, where tax values dropped $71,000,000.

In Franklin County, the increase over last year amounted to $20,875,000, bringing the 1927 total tax value up to $730,677,000.

In the matter of average tax rate for the counties, Franklin County is low among the four largest counties in the state, the rates being as follows: Cuyahoga, $23.229; Hamilton, $20.594; Lucas, $24.121, and Franklin, $19.826. (The foregoing figures are amounts paid per $1,000 tax value).

Highest average tax rate for the state is $24.844 in Jackson County, with Meigs County, $24.166, and Lucas County (Toledo), $24.121, second and third respectively.

Lowest average tax rate is $14.388 in Butler County, (Hamilton), with Fayette, $15.438; Pickaway, $15.594; Shelby, $15.603, and Fulton, $15.945, occupying second, third, fourth and fifth from low, respectively.

Total value in eight largest counties is $7,547,000,000, divided as follows: Cuyahoga, $2,900,000,000; Hamilton, $1,528,000,000; Franklin, $730,000,000; Lucas, $676,000,000; Mahoning, $515,000,000; Summit, $498,000,000; Stark, $497,000,000, and Montgomery, $473,000,000.

who was implicated with Mr. and Mrs. Ivie in the theft of $1,500 worth of merchandise recently from the store of Friedman & Sons, was arrested Wednesday afternoon in Toledo, O., on the charge of stealing an automobile, is the advice Chief of Police Warner received from the Toledo Police Department.

The Ivie's are confined in the County jail and it is more than likely that it will be impossible for local authorities to prosecute Wells until the Toledo authorities get through with him.

Art in America

The tomato plant was introduced into Europe from South America early in the Sixteenth century. The plant a little later was brought to North America and it is now found in about every vegetable garden.

Trace Lineage Backfor Many Centuries

We often speak of China as having the oldest civilization in the world, but we seldom appreciate the full significance of the statement. I once met a Chinese by the name of Kung, who was the seventy-sixth lineal descendant of the elder brother of Confucius, and Confucius lived in the years from 550 to 479 B. C. That is about as old a family as one could find anywhere, and it is a family whose pedigree is absolutely unimpeachable.

The name Confucius is a Latinized form of the words Kung-fu-tze, meaning Master Kung. In the family temple on the Shantung estate of the Kung family can be seen the tablets of all the ancestors of the family from 550 B. C. down to the present time. I might say further that Confucius considered, when he lived, that he belonged to a reasonably old family; he traced his ancestry back somewhere between 700 and 1,000 years.—National Geographic Magazine.

Social position is relative. It depends on living in a town where people are less important than yourself.

Watch Your Woolens!

With the summer season, the moth miller is abroad hunting a good place to lay her eggs. She prefers woolens as a good place to deposit her eggs, for there will be good feeding for her young.

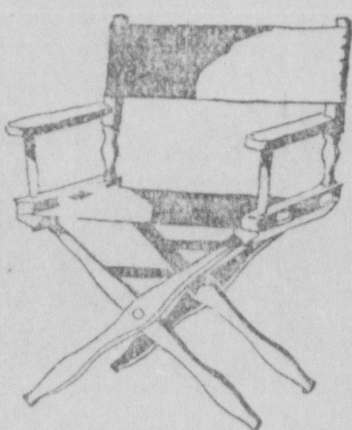

Keep the cover on your upholstered furniture, brushed at least once each week, remove all cushions, and use your electric cleaner now and then. DO NOT COVER YOUR FURNITURE WITH COVERS. The young moth will crawl thru the covering and destroy your coverings before you are aware of their presence.

Place your woollen clothing and blankets in a moth-proof chest and cease to worry. We have just received a large shipment of "Treasure Chests" lined inside with red cedar, with walnut on the outside. They are beautifully finished and will add greatly to the beauty of the room, as well as serve as a protection to your clothing.

They are strong, holding the largest persons, and yet are low priced.

Plenty of Soapsuds in Washing Dainty Frocks

Many women buy delicate fabrics without considering, until afterward, the problem of cleaning them. L. Ray Balderston, instructor in household arts, Teachers' college, Columbia university, gives some expert advice in McCall's. She says:

"Plenty of soapsuds is needed for this work and the first consideration in making suds is that the soap or soap flakes must be good—good enough to wash the most delicate skin. A perfect test of a soap in any form is that a woman can use it without shriveling her hands.

"Then dissolve the soap flakes or cake soap shaved fine in hot water so there will be no lumps of undissolved soap. The result is a perfect soap solution, which is a real working necessity, for undissolved soap streaks and spreads in the fiber and often leaves white spots which are really stains in themselves. Add this solution to the wash water.

"One soapy wash water usually is too little to clean a garment. Have two bowls of soapy water ready and then transfer the garment from the soiled suds to a clean, fresh wash water.

"The temperature of the soapy wash water is one of the all-important points. Mostly dainty work will give the best results if you have the water about the temperature of the hand, 85 degrees Fahrenheit, or even lower.

"After the garment has been freed of all the moisture you can squeeze out, it should be laid in dry clean cloths (white, of course.) To roll a dress so no colors will touch each other put a large cloth up through the length of the dress like a slip and a piece down each sleeve. Then lay the garment on a cloth and under another cloth. These wrapping cloths will show you that your garment has been saved, for there will be a complete stencil of the pattern on the cloth where the garment bled while it was rolled."

Most Charming Model for Women's Outfit

A dressmaker's pet saying is that to be successful a model must also be practical. A white georgette crepe dress over a black satin slip is a striking illustration of the old saying. The French woman uses such dresses for bright spring days at the races and for afternoon functions at which she wishes to look her informal best. The American woman uses them for luncheon parties, for bridge, country club teas and for afternoons at home.

White silk braid alternates with graduated tucks on the skirt of the overdress. It opens down the front to show the black underdress. A steel buckle holds the overdress together at the low waistline. This is one of the most charming spring models.

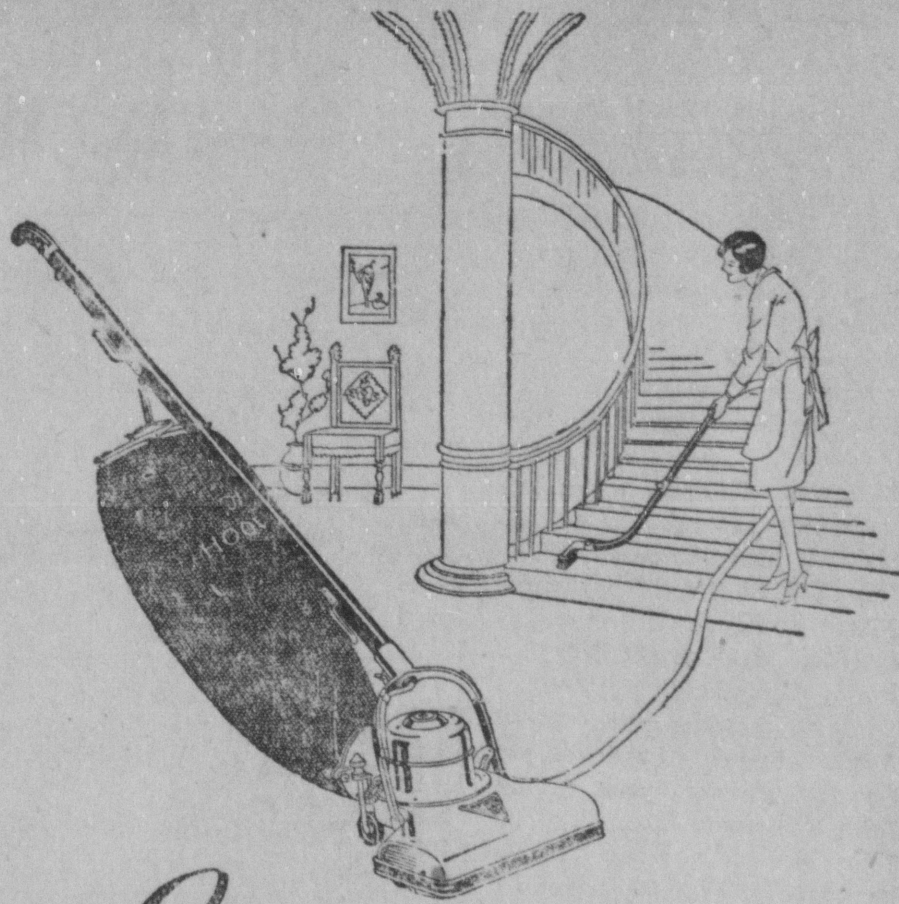

Feather Embroidery Is Used on Shawls, Gowns

New feather embroidery is perfected. Delicate fronds of ostrich worked into rich designs form the decoration on many shawls and some evening dresses and exclusive evening slippers.

Particularly striking are shawls of white silk, embroidered in black and white ostrich with a fringe of black or white. The softness and grace of the wrap make it good for flapper or grandmother.

Beige in Compose Effects

Several tones of beige are skillfully combined in the smartest street and sports costumes for spring. The color effect is carried out through the entire costume, from hat to shoes.

EXPERTS SAY ELECTRICITY IN INFANCY

Interesting Study as to What
Next Century May Bring
in Lives of People.

Eighteen years ago an Italian manufacturer, noting the steady column of volcanic steam coming from the ground in an Italian mountain valley, conceived the idea that this steam could be made to drive an engine. He set up the necessary equipment and soon was running the machinery in his plant with power which nature had been wasting.

This experiment in the utilization of volcanic steam has been successfully followed in many parts of the world. In Bolivia the government has granted a concession thru which steam from Mt. Tatío will be made use of in generating electrical energy for Bolivian railroads.

Engineers state that our own country, particularly Yellowstone park, possesses untold sources of wealth of this description.

Mechanical engineers are becoming more and more interested in the problem of utilizing the tides of the sea for generating electric power. English engineers have stated that it is only a matter of time the tidal activities in the harbors of Southern England will be made use of, while engineers in the United States and Canada are interested in studies being made of the problem of making use of the tides in the Bay of Fundy.

The development of hydro-electric power, which in recent years has reached large proportions, is, in the opinion of many experts, only in its infancy.

Scientists are experimenting, with apparent hopes of success, in utilizing the sun's rays and the wind as sources of power.

The development of these projects not only provides an interesting study as to what the next 50 or 100 years will bring in the daily lives of the people, but it illustrates the great fundamental truth that thrift, conservation and efficiency are among the impelling factors in all human progress.

Cost of Illness

Only an estimate as to how much is spent for doctors and drugs each year, is possible. Doctors' services, estimated on average income per doctor per year of $1,500, would total $220,000,000. Drugs, including patent medicines, amount to $500,000,000. Hospital maintenance and interest on hospital investment total $295,000,000.

SUSPECT IN JEWEL THEFT WAS CAUGHT

Posed as Son of Judge Who
Sentenced Him—Shot in
Leg Before Capture.

"Boston Billy Williams" alleged accomplice of Arthur Barry in the recent $100,000 robbery of the residence of Jesse L. Livermore at Great Neck, Long Island, was captured Thursday, July 7, at New London, Connecticut, when detectives, who had trailed him thru three states, shot him in the left leg as he tried to escape.

Posing as the son of Judge Webster Thayer, who in Worcester, Massachusetts, in 1921, sentenced him to state's prison for burglary, Williams, whose real name is James Francis Monahan, had been living at Lyme, for the past three weeks, he told his captors.

Two detectives had trailed Monahan thru New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and back to this state since Barry, who is serving a 25 year term for his crimes, named him as his companion in the Livermore robbery.

Thursday they cornered him in a house at Sound View. Monahan left the house by a back door. As he was running across a field, one of the detectives shot at him, when he ignored the command to halt. Monahan dropped to the ground, wounded and held up his hands. "Well, boys, it looks as tho you finally got me," he said. He was taken to the hospital for treatment and then taken to Mineola, New York, to stand trial.

Monahan admitted knowing Barry and said he had "palled around with him at times in many of New York's gambling houses," but he denied that he had been with Barry in the Livermore home or had been implicated in any others of the long string of robberies with which he is charged.

Monahan never served the sentence imposed in Worcester by the judge under whose family name he was masquerading. He escaped while being taken to jail and had not been apprehended since.

CHICAGO'S AUTO KILLINGS.

Figures given in Monday's Chicago Journal show a total of 457 deaths by automobile accidents in Cook county during the first six months of 1927. This is an increase of 75 deaths over the record for the first half of 1926. According to figures issued by the federal department of commerce, the death rate per 100,000 by such accidents within the Chicago limits has risen during the past year from 20.7 to 23.5.

This rate, which the Journal calls "scandalous," is nearly double the combined death rates of four of the principal contagious diseases—diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough. When added to the toll taken by machine guns and other deadly weapons in the hands of the criminal, classes the record certainly gives Chicago a poor showing as a safe and pleasant city in which to enjoy "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

If the automobile killings in Chicago and Cook county go on at the present rate until the end of the year the total will be between 900 and 1000, enough to make a good-sized country village. And it is fairly safe to assume that the rate will go on, not because there is any inherent necessity that it should, but simply because public opinion will not arouse itself to such an intensity and activity as it would take to force a change.

The record of Columbus in this matter is not as bad as that of Chicago, but it is entirely too bad to be allowed to continue. We too must learn that carelessness with an automobile is criminal, and that a lethargy of public opinion which tolerates criminal carelessness as if it were merely an unimportant misdemeanor will not do.—Columbus Dispatch.

Ruminating Animals

Ruminants are a group of animals distinguished from all other animals by the fact that they "chew the cud." The chief ruminants are camels, deer, giraffes, antelopes, sheep, and goats. Their food, after being partially masticated and swallowed, is later brought back to the mouth to be further masticated.

FORD RETRACTS ALL ATTACKS ON JEWS

COMPLETE APOLOGY MADE CEASES HIS ANTI-SEMITISM

Owner of the Dearborn Independent Declares He Desires To Retract Charges of Plot To Corner Money—News to Millions—Statements Are Regretted—Virtues Cited, Issue Is Settled.

The New York American in a copy righted article Thursday says Henry Ford has ordered the Dearborn Independent to discontinue permanently all articles "hostile to the Jewish people," has withdrawn from publication the pamphlet in which such items were being distributed, and in a signed statement has expressed deep regret for any injury or hurt caused by the series.

Ford's statement, according to The American, includes the announcement that "hence the Dearborn Independent will be conducted under such auspices that articles reflecting upon the Jews will never again appear in its columns."

"Let me add," this version of the statement concludes, "that this statement is made upon my own initiative and wholly in the interest of right and justice and in accordance with what I regard as my solemn duty as a man and as a citizen."

The Detroit manufacturer was quoted as being deeply mortified that "this journal has been made the medium for resurrecting exploded fictions, for giving currency to the so-called protocols of the wise men of Zion, which have been demonstrated, as I learn, to be gross forgeries, and for contending that the Jews have been engaged in a conspiracy to control the industries and capital of the world."

"Had I appreciated even the general nature, to say nothing of the details, of these articles," Mr. Ford is quoted as declaring, "I would have forbidden their circulation without a moment's hesitation, because I am fully aware of the virtues of the Jewish people as a whole, of what they and their ancestors have done for civilization and for mankind,—their benevolence and their unselfish interest in the public welfare."

Disclosing that William Randolph Hearst, publisher of The American, had offered $1,000,000 for the Dearborn Independent, the article quotes Ford as saying:

"No, I won't sell it, but I'm going to make it a house organ, and I am going to stop absolutely everything that could possibly cause complaint or hurt the feelings of anybody."

The signed statement of Ford says in part:

"In the multitude of my activities it has been impossible for me to devote personal attention to their management or to keep informed as to their contents."

"It has, therefore, inevitably followed that the conduct and policies of these publications had to be delegated to men whom I placed in charge of them and upon whom I relied implicitly."

"To my great regret," the statement continues, "I have learned that Jews generally, and particularly those of this country, not only resent these publications as promoting anti-Semitism, but regard me as their enemy."

"Trusted friends with whom I have conferred recently have assured me in all sincerity that in their opinion the character of the charges and insinuation made against the Jews, both individually and collectively, contained in many of the articles which have been circulated periodically in the Dearborn Independent and have been reprinted in the pamphlets mentioned, justifies the righteous indignation entertained by Jews everywhere toward me, because of the mental anguish occasioned by the unprovoked reflections made upon them.

"This had led me to direct my personal attention to this subject, in order to ascertain in the exact nature of these articles."

"As a result of this survey I confess that I am deeply mortified that this journal, which is intended to be constructive and not destructive, has been made the medium for resurrecting exploded fictions, for giving currency to the so-called protocols of the Wise Men of Zion, which have been demonstrated, as I learn, to be gross forgeries, and for contending that the Jews have been engaged in a conspiracy to control the capital and the industries of the world, besides laying at their door many offenses against decency, public order and good morals."

"Had I appreciated these utterances I would have forbidden their circulation without a moment's hesitation, because I am fully aware of the virtues of the Jewish people as a whole of what they and their ancestors have done for civilization and for mankind toward the development of commerce and industry, of their sobriety and diligence, their benevolence and their unselfish interest in the public welfare."

William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent and a witness in the Ford-Sapiro $1,000,000 libel suit here this year, expressed great surprise at the announcement from New York that the Ford newspaper would "discontinue permanently all articles hostile to the Jewish people."

"This is absolutely the first time I have heard of any such statement of intention on the part of Henry Ford," he said. "I most certainly will get in touch with Mr. Ford and find out what is back of this."

MOTOR SURVEY SHOWS GROSS CARELESSNESS

Any Person Who Takes a
Chance When in Control of
Auto Invites Death.

How many things drivers of motor vehicles can do that invite accidents is shown in a survey made in Baltimore by the safety council of that city. An inquiry was made into 3100 cases in the first three months of this year involving 5166 drivers. The first impressive fact revealed is that only 1035 of the individuals at the wheels of cars could be said to be without any responsibility for the mishaps. This means that four out of every five drivers that participated in accidents were less attentive to their task than they could have been. We are faced with the obvious and frequently reiterated conclusion that an awakened sense of individual responsibility is imperative to reduce the enormous annual blood toll in automobile traffic.

In the cases examined 1013 drivers failed to give the right-of-way. Three hundred and eighty-six were driving too fast under the conditions; 318 were plainly reckless, 243 inattentive, 172 lost control of their vehicles, 165 cut in too close to other machines and 109 followed other machines too closely. With congestion what it is in streets and highways this report is a stinging indictment of motoring habits. Vigilance and prudence are not to be ignored when driving an automobile. Their neglect often is the forerunner of tragedy. The statistics gathered by the Baltimore agency emphasized the extensive irresponsibility on the part of drivers of trucks and other commercial vehicles in which they had no ownership.

The cause of accidents enumerated in the survey are not different from those to be found in cases everywhere. There is no getting away from the truth that there are comparatively few mishaps that could not be prevented. Any person who takes a chance when in control of a movable engine is risking death or injury to somebody and the wreck of property. Unremitting attention to the business of driving, while not a guaranty against all mishaps, would accomplish an amazing reduction in the number now reported.—Indianapolis News.

OLDEST VINTAGE

London Man Obtains Six Bottles of Wine Which Were Made In 16th Century.

London, July 6.—In the cellar of a well-known wet goods specialist on Albermarle street, there is a small quantity of wine which is said to be of an older vintage than any wine to be found anywhere in the world. There are at present only six bottles which are the last of a large lot acquired some time ago by the merchant. These are Bavarian wines: Steinwein, 1540; Leisten, 1631; and two hocks, Rudesheimer and Deidesheimer, of equally remote date.

The mad Bavarian King Ludwig possessed these wines with 100,000 other bottles of similar antiques. One day in the early eighties he came to the conclusion that the old wine was not good and decided to sell the lot.

COURT UPHOLDS RIGHT TO OWN SHOOTIN' IRON

Man Arrested On Porch With Revolver Is Acquitted of Concealed Weapon Charge.

Probably the most ironic dissenting opinion that ever originated in Ohio supreme court was trundled out of the One Hundred and First Ohio State Reports dusted off and presented to Municipal Judge Miller Wednesday to lend weight to an argument that a man has a right to sit on his front porch with a revolver concealed in his shirt, if that is his idea of contentment.

This opinion, together with the contention of Judge Miller that a man's house still is his castle, won the battle for Will Gerrell, 938 Dupont street, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

The weapon in evidence was a so-called "hogleg" revolver, so large it looked as though a gun carriage might be required to carry it about, but Will had managed to hide it beneath his shirt when arrested recently while entertaining friends on the porch of his home.

His counsel, E. J. Greely, contended that his client was within his constitutional rights. He cited where the late Judge K. M. Wanamaker, differing with his supreme court colleagues in a revolver case, had stated that if it is a crime for residents to have weapons in their homes, then a large percentage of the people of the state are criminals.

"The only safe course for them to pursue," according to the Wanamaker opinion, "instead of having the weapon concealed on or about their person, or under their pillow at night, is to hang the revolver on the wall and put below it a large placard with these words inscribed:

"The Ohio supreme court having decided that it is a crime to carry a concealed weapon on one's person in one's home, even in one's bed or bunk, this weapon is hung upon the wall that you may see it, and before you commit any burglary or assault, please, Mr. Burglar, hand me my gun."

Upon conclusion of the reading of the citation, Judge Miller said: "I still hold that a man's house is his castle, also. Therefore this case is continued generally."

Gerrell, however, who had been convicted of illegal possession of whisky found on his premises at the time police made discovery of the weapon in his shirt, was fined $100 and costs on that charge.—O. S. Journal.

SAFETY FIRST.

In the annual report of H. C. Stevenson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, one of the matters mentioned is the five traffic lights on Main and Court streets, bought at considerable cost and paid for by public donations.

This investment is one of the finest ever made by the people of Circleville; for, so far as we know, there has not been a single accident at any of these street crossings while the lights were in operation.

In these days of rapid transit and with all streets and roads filled with speeding automobiles, every precaution should be taken to preserve the lives and property of all. While the traffic lights are conceded to be splendid, it must be remembered that without obedience, they are without any value and the money spent in their purchase and installation is worse than wasted.

Autoists, generally, obey the signals, but a little observation will disclose the fact that they are disregarded by some drivers. And, while, it is true that most drivers of machines obey the traffic signals, not so much can be said for the pedestrians, as violation on the part of the walkers is the rule rather than the exception. These lights change every thirty seconds, and, it occurs to us that a man or woman, whether walking or driving, must be in a very great hurry if he can not wait the half of one minute.

In our judgment there should be universal compliance with the signals or the lights should be taken down and the investment charged up to profit and loss.

Again, it is no uncommon occurrence to see an automobile going about our streets, after dark, with no lights burning and occasionally a car may be seen with only one or no license plate.

As we have said, every care should be exercised to insure the safety of life and property; yet on any Saturday night when the streets on both sides are lined with automobiles, some may be found in the center of the city, parked at alley intersections, barring ingress or egress.

This is in plain violation of law, and it does not take a prophet to foresee what would happen if fire should break out in some of the frame structures in these alleys. The fire department would be delayed, perhaps, until such headway had been made by the flames that a goodly part of the city might be destroyed.

If we are to have a condition that makes it impossible for the fire department to reach the scene of the blaze, would it not be the part of wisdom to abolish the fire department and save taxpayers the useless expense of its maintenance.

We would like to ask if any of the people of Circleville or the surrounding country would drive or walk against the lights, drive after dark without lights, drive without two license plates or park their machines in an alley entrance in Columbus?

The Nearest Duty

Our thoughts, good and bad, are not in our command, but every one of us has at all hours duty to do, and these he can only do negligently like a slave or faithfully like a true servant. "Do the duty that is nearest thee"—that first, and that well; all the rest will disclose themselves with increasing clearness and make their successive demand.

WISHES.

The Associated Press recently carried a dispatch telling of an elderly farmer who wished that an apple tree on a hill was down in the barn lot, as it was becoming difficult for him to climb so high.

Lo! no sooner had he wished than the tree slid down the hill, bringing a huge pile of earth with it, and soon was bearing fruit in its new location.

Most of men's wishes, however, are not so speedily realized. A wish, for the average man, is but the beginning of work. Wishing, if it means anything, is an electric button, to be pressed once.

The rest must be done elsewhere.

A wish is the self-starter in the wheel of attainment. Without wishes mankind would still be in the purely animal state. Animals do not wish for food, they crave it, which is a different thing.

Man, with a mentality made for wishing, wishes himself into success or failure. Men do not always stop to realize that evil as well as good comes from wishing.

Even wishes which intend harm to others are aimed, in a queer distorted fashion, to bring what the wisher terms "good" to himself. There is nothing more sure, however, than these evil wishes bring a circle of evil results, which takes in wishes as well as victim.

If our wishes are good as was the old Ohio farmer's, perhaps we may yet see the tree slide down into outstretched arms, and pick the apples of realization at our ease. — Washington Star.

DISARMAMENT AGREEMENT IN THE BALANCE

The fate of President Coolidge's three-power naval armaments conference seemed likely to be decided Friday at Geneva.

The showdown was expected at an executive meeting of the chief delegates of the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Apparently it was up to the British delegation to say whether the conference, after 17 days of virtually fruitless discussions, shall end in success or failure.

The situation when the executive session was called was:

Great Britain demanded a maximum cruiser tonnage of not less than 580,000; the United States favored 300,000 but was willing, if necessary, to go as high as 400,000; Japan favored a maximum of 250,000 and would not go beyond 300,000.

One or more of those figures will have to be changed at the executive session if the conference is to continue, because the United States stood midway between the high of Britain and the low of Japan it was believed the committee, if it agrees at all, will agree on a figure approximating that suggested by the United States.

Food From the Clouds

Airplanes that fly above the Alps now supply astronomers at the Mont Blanco observatory with food. This they accomplish by dropping parachutes loaded with provisions, which are picked up as soon as they reach the earth. Food that was formerly hauled up the steep slopes of the mountains to isolated tourist huts in the Alps is also being distributed in this way.

Nests on the Ground

The meadow lark's nest is a scooped-out hollow in the meadows, says Nature Magazine. It is formed of dead grasses, arched over with a sort of roof. The four or five white eggs are lightly dotted with reddish brown and gray.

LICKING COW HEAD OF LIST IN BUTTERFAT

Holstein Production is 125 Pounds in May and Wins the First Place.

By producing the equivalent of about 125 pounds of butter in the month of May, a registered Holstein cow owned by Daweswood farm of Licking county won the honor of heading the list of the 6528 cows on test in Ohio's corn testing associations during May. Her exact butterfat production was 106.5 pounds for May.

First honors in milk production for May went to a registered Holstein owned by Firestone farm of Columbiana county. This cow produced 3044 pounds of milk (about 1500 quarts) during May. Second on this list was a grade Holstein owned by Carl Crane of the Warren-Greene County Cow Testing association. This Holstein yielded 2663 pounds of milk.

The Daweswood farm cow, first in butterfat production, came third in milk production with an output of 2536 pounds.

Second place in butterfat production was won by a registered Holstein of the herd of William Hahn, Wayne county, producing 104.2 pounds of fat. Third place, 103.3 pounds of butterfat, went to the Firestone farm cow, which was first in milk production for May.

The 24 cow testing associations which reported to the agricultural college extension service at the Ohio State university for May, had 6528 cows in milk during the month. Better than a fourth—1897 cows—of the total number of cows in milk produced 40 pounds of butterfat or more during May, and 887 produced more than 1200 pounds of milk.

Undersea Relief Maps of Pacific Made by Navy

Washington.—An achievement of the navy during the cruise of the battle fleet from San Francisco to Australia two years ago has just come to light with publication of undersea relief maps of the route the ships followed on that historic voyage of more than 7,000 miles.

Graphic representations of soundings taken at the time by the battleship Maryland, the light cruiser Milwaukee, and the destroyer Hull are shown. They are expected to be of incalculable value to navigation in the Pacific as well as to the advancement of the science of oceanography.

Equipped with sonic electric depth-sounding devices, it was an easy matter for the ships to chart the bed of the waters as they passed over. They accurately mapped the deepest ravines. Sheer pinnacles rising 24,000 feet in some instances were located. Along other stretches of the route the maps disclose queer outlines of the Pacific's bed, suggestive of an impressionistic picture of the skyline of a great city.

In the opinion of some navy hydrographers, the bottom of the oceans and other bodies of waters may be charted, though they be concealed miles below the surface even before man concludes his age-old task of mapping the exposed portions of the world. And this, they say, is possible without ever dropping a lead line from a ship.

WAISTLINE IS WAVERING FAR FROM NORMAL

Specialist in Talk on Fashions Admits That It May Never Decide to Settle.

Where, Oh where, will the waistline settle?

That question, bobbing up every year in discussions of feminine fashions, still is as far from settlement as ever, it seems to Edna M. Callahan, home economics extension specialist at the Ohio State university.

The refusing to predict just where the waistline will settle, if it ever does, Miss Callahan offers two reasons why the fashionable waistline probably will be slow to coincide with the normal anatomical waistline.

In the first place, says the home economics specialist, the normal waistline is not very flattering to the hips that have lost their slimness. In the second place, the normal waistline is rarely youthful looking as the longer waistline.

"For the past two or three seasons," Miss Callahan continues, "we have been hearing that the normal waistline has returned. The fact remains that few of us are wearing normal waistlines, because few of us like them.

"The tendency in waistlines is upward. This tendency is so gradual, however, that one hardly realizes it.

"Elaborate and ingenious subterfuges are used to accustom our eyes to the higher waistlines. There are frocks with three belts, the top one at a normal waistline; frocks with boleros ending at a normal waistline; frocks with a fitted look above the belts, and frocks with trimmings, which call attention to the body waistline."

BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSES WITH GOOD PROGAM

The program for the closing entertainment of the Daily Vacation Bible school tonight will in part be a demonstration of the program of work done day by day. There will be two dramatizations of Bible stories. The Primary group will stage Moses and the Junior group Joseph. Miss Deitzel leaves Saturday for her home in Tiffin. She is much pleased with the cooperation given her and the fine work of her assistants in the school. Many are hoping that next year two schools can be held in place of one in order that a larger number of children may be reached. The exhibition of handwork will open at 6:30; the program at 8 o'clock at the high school auditorium.

Railroad Grades

Any railroad grade of 2 per cent or over is uneconomical. Grade revision has progressed in this country until there are few grades of 2 per cent or over. The Denver & Rio Grande has 12 miles of 2.4 per cent grade west-bound from Helper, Utah, to Kyume, Utah, and a 2 per cent grade from Soldier Summit, Utah, to Tucker, Utah, a distance of about fifteen miles.

Familiar to Racing Men

Tattersall's is the name of an old and well-known horse market situated at Knightsbridge Green, London. It was established in 1770 by Richard Tattersall, and its business is largely in connection with the sale of thoroughbreds. The name is also applied to one of the inclosures situated upon race-courses.

AMUSEMENTS

Spain—the Spain of today—add Slander—the great enemy of the day—are the locale and motivating menace of the most sensational drama the screen has seen in months, "Lovers," now showing at the Met theater.

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature is a gripping romance of love, and the peril of scandal, filmed on a lavish scale as a starring vehicle for Ramon Novarro, with Alice Terry and a splendid cast.

It is a play unique in that it has no conventional villain. His place is taken by the invisible tongues of scandal, which blight lives, wreck souls and cast the central characters into a maelstrom of poisonous lies in the gripping tale.

The denouement is one of the most remarkable bits of dramatic audacity and playwright's originality in years.

Modern Spain is the locale of the story—a Spain as modern as the United States is today. Novarro is seen as a young playwright, thrown into a sensational scandal with the wife of his best friend—alho both are absolutely innocent. This situation is developed with rare dramatic intensity from one climax to another.

The cast, under the direction of John M. Stahl, is one of special interest. Novarro, hero of "Ben-Hur," is a different man entirely as the young Spaniard of the present day; Miss Terry, heroine of "Mare Nostrum" and "The Magician," charming as the young wife torn between love of her husband and terror of the scandal menacing her happiness.

Sloth's Peculiarities

The sloth is a tree-dwelling animal, native to South America. It seldom comes to the ground, but lives entirely on the vegetation afforded by the trees. Its legs and claws are long and it hangs on the branches in a suspended posture, its body being underneath.

1927 TAX DUPLICATE

Is $13,330,000,000—Four Counties Possess 41 Per Cent of Total — Increase Over 1926 5 Per Cent.

The tax duplicate of Ohio for 1927 is $13,330,000,000, of $650,000,000 more than the total for 1926, records of the state tax commission show. The increase is slightly over 5 per cent.

Fifty-six per cent of the total tax wealth of the state is located in eight counties containing the eight largest cities, while 41 per cent is in the four largest.

Cuyahoga County with an area of 463 square miles, has a tax duplicate of $2,900,000,000, which is 21.7 per cent of the total for the state, and is the largest for any county.

Vinton County, with an area of 412 square miles, has a tax duplicate of $13,613,000, and is the smallest in the state.

The greatest increase over last year is in Stark County, where the total value was boosted $122,000,000, while the greatest decrease over last year was Cuyahoga County, where tax values dropped $71,000,000.

In Franklin County, the increase over last year amounted to $20,875,000, bringing the 1927 total tax value up to $730,677,000.

In the matter of average tax rate for the counties, Franklin County is low among the four largest counties in the state, the rates being as follows: Cuyahoga, $23.229; Hamilton, $20.594; Lucas, $24.121, and Franklin, $19.826. (The foregoing figures are amounts paid per $1,000 tax value).

Highest average tax rate for the state is $24.844 in Jackson County, with Meigs County, $24.166, and Lucas County (Toledo), $24.121, second and third respectively.

Lowest average tax rate is $14.388 in Butler County, (Hamilton), with Fayette, $15.438; Pickaway, $15.594; Shelby, $15.603, and Fulton, $15.945, occupying second, third, fourth and fifth from low, respectively.

Total value in eight largest counties is $7,547,000,000, divided as follows: Cuyahoga, $2,900,000,000; Hamilton, $1,528,000,000; Franklin, $730,000,000; Lucas, $676,000,000; Mahoning, $515,000,000; Summit, $498,000,000; Stark, $497,000,000, and Montgomery, $473,000,000.

who was implicated with Mr. and Mrs. Ivie in the theft of $1,500 worth of merchandise recently from the store of Friedman & Sons, was arrested Wednesday afternoon in Toledo, O., on the charge of stealing an automobile, is the advice Chief of Police Warner received from the Toledo Police Department.

The Ivie's are confined in the County jail and it is more than likely that it will be impossible for local authorities to prosecute Wells until the Toledo authorities get through with him.

The tomato plant was introduced into Europe from South America early in the Sixteenth century. The plant a little later was brought to North America and it is now found in about every vegetable garden.

Trace Lineage Back for Many Centuries

We often speak of China as having the oldest civilization in the world, but we seldom appreciate the full significance of the statement. I once met a Chinese by the name of Kung, who was the seventy-sixth lineal descendant of the elder brother of Confucius, and Confucius lived in the years from 550 to 479 B. C. That is about as old a family as one could find anywhere, and it is a family whose pedigree is absolutely unimpeachable.

The name Confucius is a Latinized form of the words Kung-fu-tze, meaning Master Kung. In the family temple on the Shantung estate of the Kung family can be seen the tablets of all the ancestors of the family from 550 B. C. down to the present time. I might say further that Confucius considered, when he lived, that he belonged to a reasonably old family; he traced his ancestry back somewhere between 700 and 1,000 years.—National Geographic Magazine.

Social position is relative. It depends on living in a town where people are less important than yourself.

Watch Your Woolens!

With the summer season, the moth miller is abroad hunting a good place to lay her eggs. She prefers woolens as a good place to deposit her eggs, for there will be good feeding for her young.

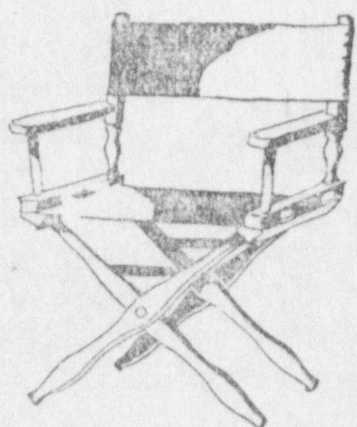

Keep the cover on your upholstered furniture, brushed at least once each week, remove all cushions, and use your electric cleaner now and then. DO NOT COVER YOUR FURNITURE WITH COVERS. The young moth will crawl thru the covering and destroy your coverings before you are aware of their presence.

Place your woolen clothing and blankets in a moth-proof chest and cease to worry. We have just received a large shipment of "Treasure Chests" lined inside with red cedar, with walnut on the outside. They are beautifully finished and will add greatly to the beauty of the room, as well as serve as a protection to your clothing.

Priced from $16.50 up

Haven't you often wished that you had a folding chair to take with you on picnics and camping tours? We have some that are very fine for that purpose. They are strong, holding the largest persons, and yet are low priced.

Plenty of Soapsuds in Washing Dainty Frocks

Many women buy delicate fabrics without considering, until afterward, the problem of cleaning them. L. Ray Balderston, instructor in household arts, Teachers' college, Columbia university, gives some expert advice in McCall's. She says:

"Plenty of soapsuds is needed for this work and the first consideration in making suds is that the soap or soap flakes must be good—good enough to wash the most delicate skin. A perfect test of a soap in any form is that a woman can use it without shriveling her hands.

"Then dissolve the soap flakes or cake soap shaved fine in hot water so there will be no lumps of undissolved soap. The result is a perfect soap solution, which is a real working necessity, for undissolved soap streaks and spreads in the fiber and often leaves white spots which are really stains in themselves. Add this solution to the wash water.

"One soapy wash water usually is too little to clean a garment. Have two bowls of soapy water ready and then transfer the garment from the soiled suds to a clean, fresh wash water.

"The temperature of the soapy wash water is one of the all-important points. Mostly dainty work will give the best results if you have the water about the temperature of the hand, 88 degrees Fahrenheit, or even lower.

"After the garment has been freed of all the moisture you can squeeze out, it should be laid in dry clean cloths (white, of course.) To roll a dress so no colors will touch each other put a large cloth up through the length of the dress like a slip and a piece down each sleeve. Then lay the garment on a cloth and under another cloth. These wrapping cloths will show you that your garment has been saved, for there will be a complete stencil of the pattern on the cloth where the garment bled while it was rolled."

Most Charming Model for Women's Outfit

A dressmakers' pet saying is that to be successful a model must also be practical. A white georgette crepe dress over a black satin slip is a striking illustration of the old saying. The French woman uses such dresses for bright spring days at the races and for afternoon functions at which she wishes to look her informal best. The American woman uses them for luncheon parties, for bridge, country club teas and for afternoons at home.

White silk braid alternates with graduated tucks on the skirt of the overdress. It opens down the front to show the black underdress. A steel buckle holds the overdress together at the low waistline. This is one of the most charming spring models.

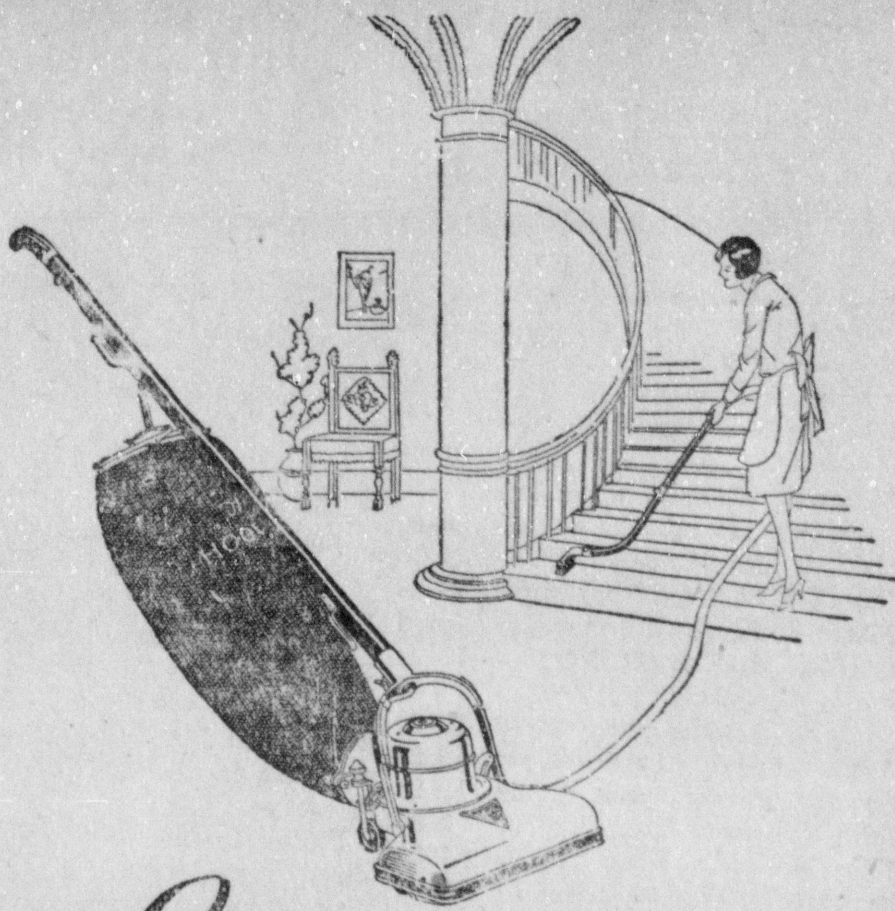

Feather Embroidery Is Used on Shawls, Gowns

New feather embroidery is perfected. Delicate fronds of ostrich worked into rich designs form the decoration on many shawls and some evening dresses and exclusive evening slippers.

Particularly striking are shawls of white silk, embroidered in black and white ostrich with a fringe of black or white. The softness and grace of the wrap make it good for flapper or grandmother.

Beige in Compose Effects

Several tones of beige are skillfully combined in the smartest street and sports costumes for spring. The color effect is carried out through the entire costume, from hat to shoes.

EXPERTS SAY ELECTRICITY IN INFANCY

Interesting Study as to What
Next Century May Bring
in Lives of People.

Eighteen years ago an Italian manufacturer, noting the steady column of volcanic steam coming from the ground in an Italian mountain valley, conceived the idea that this steam could be made to drive an engine. He set up the necessary equipment and soon was running the machinery in his plant with power which nature had been wasting.

This experiment in the utilization of volcanic steam has been successfully followed in many parts of the world. In Bolivia the government has granted a concession thru which steam from Mt. Tatío will be made use of in generating electrical energy for Bolivian railroads.

Engineers state that our own country, particularly Yellowstone park, possesses untold sources of wealth of this description.

Mechanical engineers are becoming more and more interested in the problem of utilizing the tides of the sea for generating electric power. English engineers have stated that it is only a matter of time the tidal activities in the harbors of Southern England will be made use of, while engineers in the United States and Canada are interested in studies being made of the problem of making use of the tides in the Bay of Fundy.

The development of hydro-electric power, which in recent years has reached large proportions, is, in the opinion of many experts, only in its infancy.

Scientists are experimenting, with apparent hopes of success, in utilizing the sun's rays and the wind as sources of power.

The development of these projects not only provides an interesting study as to what the next 50 or 100 years will bring in the daily lives of the people, but it illustrates the great fundamental truth that thrift, conservation and efficiency are among the impelling factors in all human progress.

Cost of Illness

Only an estimate as to how much is spent for doctors and drugs each year, is possible. Doctors' services, estimated on average income per doctor per year of $1,500, would total $220,000,000. Drugs, including patent medicines, amount to $500,000,000. Hospital maintenance and interest on hospital investment total $295,000,000.

SUSPECT IN JEWEL THEFT WAS CAUGHT

Posed as Son of Judge Who
Sentenced Him---Shot in
Leg Before Capture.

"Boston Billy Williams" alleged accomplice of Arthur Barry in the recent $100,000 robbery of the residence of Jesse L. Livermore at Great Neck, Long Island, was captured Thursday, July 7, at New London, Connecticut, when detectives, who had trailed him thru three states, shot him in the left leg as he tried to escape.

Posing as the son of Judge Webster Thayer, who in Worcester, Massachusetts, in 1921, sentenced him to state's prison for burglary, Williams, whose real name is James Francis Monahan, had been living at Lyme, for the past three weeks, he told his captors.

Two detectives had trailed Monahan thru New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and back to this state since Barry, who is serving a 25 year term for his crimes, named him as his companion in the Livermore robbery.

Thursday they cornered him in a house at Sound View. Monahan left the house by a back door. As he was running across a field, one of the detectives shot at him, when he ignored the command to halt. Monahan dropped to the ground, wounded and held up his hands. "Well, boys, it looks as tho you finally got me," he said.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment and then taken to Mineola, New York, to stand trial.

Monahan admitted knowing Barry, and said he had "palled around with him at times in many of New York's gambling houses," but he denied that he had been with Barry in the Livermore home or had been implicated in any others of the long string of robberies with which he is charged.

Monahan never served the sentence imposed in Worcester by the judge under whose family name he was masquerading. He escaped while being taken to jail and had not been apprehended since.

CHICAGO'S AUTO KILLINGS.

Figures given in Monday's Chicago Journal show a total of 457 deaths by automobile accidents in Cook county during the first six months of 1927. This is an increase of 75 deaths over the record for the first half of 1926. According to figures issued by the federal department of commerce, the death rate per 100,000 by such accidents within the Chicago limits has risen during the past year from 20.7 to 23.5.

This rate, which the Journal calls "scandalous," is nearly double the combined death rates of four of the principal contagious diseases—diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough. When added to the toll taken by machine guns and other deadly weapons in the hands of the criminal, classes the record certainly gives Chicago a poor showing as a safe and pleasant city in which to enjoy "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

If the automobile killings in Chicago and Cook county go on at the present rate until the end of the year the total will be between 900 and 1000, enough to make a good-sized country village. And it is fairly safe to assume that the rate will go on, not because there is any inherent necessity that it should, but simply because public opinion will not arouse itself to such an intensity and activity as it would take to force a change.

The record of Columbus in this matter is not as bad as that of Chicago, but it is entirely too bad to be allowed to continue. We too must learn that carelessness with an automobile is criminal, and that a lethargy of public opinion which tolerates criminal carelessness as if it were merely an unimportant misdemeanor will not do.—Columbus Dispatch.

Ruminating Animals

Ruminants are a group of animals distinguished from all other animals by the fact that they "chew the cud." The chief ruminants are camels, deer, giraffes, antelopes, sheep, and goats. Their food, after being partially masticated and swallowed, is later brought back to the mouth to be further masticated.

A man in an English court denied that he was out on a certain occasion, adding: "I should have liked to have been, but my wife was at home, and you know the difficulty."
